

May 2007

Andretti races to installer launch

Motor racing legend meets garages and workshops that have joined Magnaflow UK's network of performance exhaust fitters

Magnaflow UK officially launched its brand-new performance exhaust installer network last week when motor racing legend, Mario Andretti, welcomed one of 12 new garage and workshop businesses to the programme.

The network was established at the beginning of the year and in the last five months, Nemesis UK – the exclusive UK distributor for Magnaflow products – has been instrumental in giving 12 garage and workshop businesses a valuable extra service to present to existing and new customers.

To mark the completion of the first stage of Nemesis UK's installer recruitment programme, Andretti, the 1978 Formula One World Champion and an ambassador for Magnaflow products, joined Nemesis UK managing director Paul Tomlinson and his staff in welcoming DRM Motorsport from Bromsgrove to the Magnaflow family.

Andretti said: "I wish all of the installers the best of luck with their new venture and I certainly believe they couldn't have aligned themselves with a better aftermarket product brand – Magnaflow is as good as you can get."

"All of the applications look magnificent and the quality is far greater than you get with other products. Normally you get inherent problems with aftermarket applications when it comes to the fit, but that doesn't happen with Magnaflow because the guys who design and build the systems do a spectacular job."

All of the businesses that have joined the Magnaflow UK installer network are able to build bespoke performance exhaust systems or supply applications direct from the Magnaflow factory in the USA.

Tomlinson said: "The installer concept has gone taken off superbly since we launched it at Autosport International in January and we fully expect to have a UK network of 50 garages and workshops onboard come the end of the year."

"The impressive take up goes to show that the UK independent garage sector is willing to take advantage of new opportunities when they come along and I know these businesses are going to be much stronger as a result of them joining the Magnaflow network." To locate the nearest Magnaflow UK installer network to you, telephone the Nemesis UK team on 01527 839350 or visit www.magnaflowuk.com

Image shows Mario Andretti (third from right) with the Nemesis UK team and DRM principal, Daniel Rowbottom, (grey jumper).